MCHT0030Description :

Modular Learning Systems

Technical Specification :

This system is an integrated training system based on industrial flexible production line manufacturing system, its content covers industrial light, machine, electricity integration and other automatic control application technologies, it does real-time data exchange through upper computer WINCC configuration software, and it makes all the unit platforms and actuators in the system form an integrated industrial control network, hardware supports 485, MODBUS, DP network communication modes.
