Description :*Water Still Stainless Steel Model WS 4L

Menesty Type, wall mounting still, designed for continuous automatic and efficient production of high quality distilled water. The raw water enters at the lower end of the condenser pipe, circulating around the condenser tube and ultimately filling the boiling chamber to a height predetermined by means of a weir. The descending steam, in the condenser tube thus pre-heats the ascending column of raw water and tends to expel gases dissolved in it. The stills are so designed that these expelled gases can be vented to atmosphere.
